Scope and Contents

The Christopher Morley Book-of-the-Month Club Materials consist mainly of pre-publication bound galleys and page proofs of works examined by Morley acting as a member of the Club's Selecting Committee, 1925-1955. Several manuscripts and a small amount of correspondence are also present. These materials were originally accessioned as part of Morley's library in 1959. However, because they represent pre-publication states of text, they were subsequently transferred to be added to the large collection of Morley's manuscripts, correspondence, and other papers. This inventory supplements the finding aid for the Christopher Morley Collection.

The Book-of-the-Month Club materials have been arranged alphabetically by author and title. The format of the items has been indicated only when they represent other than galleys or page proofs. Notable among the manuscripts is the corrected typescript of the second half of George Santayana's The Last Puritan, the first half of which is owned by the University of Virginia's Alderman Library. Also of special note is a very heavily marked paste-up of Bruce Rogers' Paragraphs on Printing.

Only a few items of correspondence are present, including single letters from Blanche Knopf and Don Marquis. The Index of Correspondents at the end of this inventory includes all correspondent names and the locations of the letters. There is substantial correspondence in the Christopher Morley Collection between Morley and various representatives of the Book-of-the-Month Club (about 130 items, 1925-1955), often with commentary concerning specific books.
